

CALL FOR MEMBERS

CHINOPERL, Chinese Oral and Performing Literature, Inc., founded in 1969, is an independent and international scholarly association for the studies of Chinese oral and performing literature, which is also affiliated with the Association of Asian Studies in the United States of America. CHINOPERL welcomes scholars, performers and anyone interested in the study or creation of linguistic, music, ritual, dramatic or other works that have bearing on Chinese performing literatures.

Membership in CHINOPERL is established by payment of annual dues of $25.00 for individuals, which includes subscription to two issues of the refereed journal CHINOPERL: Journal of Chinese Oral and Performing Literature. Members are entitled to attend and present papers at the annual meeting for a $20.00 registration fee ($15 for members who are students and retirees); non-members can attend for a $25.00 registration fee. Presentations at the annual meeting may be delivered in English or Chinese. Manuscripts submitted to CHINOPERL Journal for publication must be in English, following the guidelines on the CHINOPERL Journal style sheet. Submission of manuscripts is open to all, but authors whose work is accepted for publication must become members of the association.
